 Experience

EnergyNet - President

EnergyNet
October 2002 – Present (13 years 9 months) | Houston, Texas Area

Chris focuses on strategic business development, driving company growth and expanding on EnergyNet's client-focused agenda.

EnergyNet is an oil and gas property transaction advisory firm focusing on the brokerage of US upstream assets. The company was founded in 1999 by longtime operators William W. Britain and Jim J. Brewer out of Amarillo, Texas. The purpose of EnergyNet is to create a liquid exchange-like marketplace for the acquisition and divestment of interests in oil and gas properties utilizing a platform that leverages the Internet to make market exposure, data dissemination, buyer due diligence and bidding flexible and easy.

EnergyNet clients include major oil companies, large independents, bank trust departments, foundations, churches, universities and individuals. The company's technological reach presents an oil and gas property portfolio to thousands of buyers with multi-billion-dollar buying power. EnergyNet maximizes divestment returns by enabling sellers to achieve the highest possible prices for properties and to drive down costs as well. The steady flow of acquisition opportunities provided by EnergyNet keeps registered buyers engaged.
