Subject: RE: Speaker - US-Mexico Oil & Gas Conference

Anabel,

Good morning.

Below is a brief bio, I am also attaching a photo in the event you need one.

Carlos Garcia is the International Business Development Manager at Lewis Energy Group and as such is responsible for heading up the company's efforts in Mexico. Lewis Energy is a vertically integrated exploration and production company, and one of the most experienced operator in the development of shale gas in the Eagle Ford. Lewis has been working in Mexico for eleven years under contract with Pemex developing the Olmos block in the Burgos basin, located in the state of Coahuila.

Prior to joining Lewis Energy, Carlos was the Vice President of Business Development for the energy storage startup General Compression. Prior to this he was Director for Business Development for Vestas North America, Vice President for the marketing and communications firm Garcia 360 and also spent 11 years as co-founder and CEO of IGASAMEX, a natural gas transportation and marketing company in Mexico. As head of IGASAMEX, Carlos was responsible for building and operating the first privately owned natural gas pipeline after the Mexican energy regulatory changes of 1995.

Carlos received his B. S. in Accounting from Indiana University and his M.B.A. from the University of Michigan, Ross School of Business. Carlos is a native of Mexico and now resides in San Antonio with his wife and four kids.
